

OFFICE OF FILM
& LITERATURE
CLASSIFICATION

Information for Libraries

Welcome to the libraries newsletter from the Office of Film and Literature Classification. Feel free to contact us if you have any queries or suggestions for future content, and please feel free to forward this newsletter to others.

Newly classified book and magazine

The book *Go The F*ck To Sleep* was classified as unrestricted in July, and so it does not require a classification label. This book was submitted to the Classification Office as a result of a complaint from a member of the public.

The magazine Vice Volume 9 Number 2 (the February 2011 edition) was classified R18 in May. If your library has copies of this magazine it must carry an official classification label. You can obtain labels from the Film and Video Labelling Body (enquiries@fvlb.org.nz /09 361 3882).

LIANZA Conference 2011

Staff from the Classification Office will have a stand at the LIANZA conference this year in Wellington. Please let us know if you have any suggestions for information you would like us to have available, including resources for your library.

We look forward to meeting you there and hopefully answering all your questions!

New research from the Classification Office

The Classification Office has published two new research reports:

- Understanding the Classification System – New Zealanders' Views. Read our press release and download a copy here.
- Guidance and Protection: What New Zealanders want from the classification system for films and games. Read a summary of the research and download a copy here.

Website updates – new webpage for school librarians

We've updated the information for librarians on our website. We've also created a webpage specifically for school libraries.

If you are lending DVDs from the school library, or if teachers are showing DVDs to students, remember to adhere to any age restrictions on labels. Let us know if you need a film label poster for the library (or if you would like any other resources).

New resource – plain English guide to the Classification Act offence provisions

We've made a document which outlines the offence provisions in the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993. Learn more about the guide and download a copy here.

August 2011

- Newly classified book and magazine
- LIANZA conference 2011
- New research from the Classification Office
- New webpage for school librarians
- New resource – the offence provisions in plain English

Contact the Information Unit

0508 CENSOR (0508 236 767)
information@copyright.govt.nz

www.copyright.govt.nz